

Fires across Australia

How you can help

Our emergency teams are supporting communities impacted by catastrophic bushfires in New South Wales, Queensland and now South Australia.

We're grateful for the incredible efforts of more than 110 volunteers who have worked day and night to support people, as well as all those who stand ready to help in the coming days.

Your donation to our Disaster Relief and Recovery Work helps our emergency teams to be there when people need us. It means we can plan for what's next, run evacuation centres, provide psychological first aid, help people prepare for emergencies, and follow up to ensure they recover well afterwards.

No matter the emergency or where it might happen – whether in New South Wales, Queensland or much further afield.

How to donate:

- Online at redcross.org.au/disaster
- By phone at 1800-RED-CROSS
- In person at a Commonwealth Bank (or via their app) or Australia Post store
- Run your own fundraiser: visit redcross.org.au/fundraise to register

If you're in an area affected by fires:

Visit redcross.org.au/prepare for handy tips on what to take if you need to leave your home.

Visit register.redcross.org.au to register your whereabouts or enquire about family or friends.