Compliance with Development Standards

A person may carry out development specified in State Environmental Planning Policy (Exempt & Complying Development Codes) 2008 without obtaining development consent from a consent authority if the person complies with the development standards that apply to the development (which include the deemed-to-satisfy provisions of the Building Code of Australia).

However, the development must not contravene any condition of a development consent already applying to the land. Also, adjoining owners' property rights, the applicable common law and other legislative requirements for approvals, licences, permits and authorities still apply. For example, requirements relevant to development in this code are contained in the Act, the Environmental Planning and Assessment Regulation 2000, various state environmental planning policies, the Protection of the Environment Operations Act 1997, the Roads Act 1993 and the Swimming Pools Act 1992.
